

EMBRACING REGENERATIVE DESIGN

Six Strategies for Moving Toward Regenerative Park and Recreation Environments

Months in the making, this feature article demystifies the term “regenerative design” for parks and recreation professionals, contextualizing how community engagement and smart design play a role in advancing social equity and environmental justice. Referencing the Regenerative Design Framework, HDR project examples in the U.S. and Canada, commentary from colleagues and anecdotes from user group meetings, six strategies for embracing regenerative design. View the article here.

Mary Chow

Mary.Chow@hdrinc.com

T 604.622.5320

 Connect with Mary on LinkedIn

hdrinc.com/ca

